President's Message

BY ANN JACOBS

We are a group of volunteers who all enjoy using libraries, searching for our ancestors and learning about the times in which they lived. This is the common goal which holds us together. No one person is indispensable to the group. There must be give and take. No one way is the best way to do our projects. We are in the process of formulating some processes and procedures for projects that can be used as guidelines by those who follow us.

The current news about our present library projects may interest you. Our volunteers have been busy this winter.

The Pioneer Library System has copied our catalog records and is converting our catalog to their catalog software. The transfer has not been completed at this date. Pioneer will provide training to several of our volunteers. We will maintain a copy of their software and will update our catalog as needed in house. When the project is completed, our catalog will be online.

CCGS is entering the '89er Day Parade on April 18, with members riding and walking in the parade. Please let us know if you would like to participate.

In recent years, Mr. Henry Hensel has donated several hundred books to the CCGS Library, so many that we ran out of space on our library shelves. Our solution has been to focus the collection on genealogy and current materials. Books focusing on history and travel, and journals over 10 years old were removed from the collection. This has created space to add donated books focusing on genealogy in many eastern states, including New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia and several others. Our library volunteers are also completing the project to remove journals over ten years old from the collection.

We are in need of more equipment for our speakers to use at our meetings: a projector, a screen and computer. To continue the scanning of our old records, we need a computer to use with the scanner we are buying. Perhaps we can obtain a computer which will do both jobs.

PIONEERS OF CLEVELAND COUNTY, OKLAHOMA TERRITORY

James Henry Bennett, Sr.

EDITOR'S NOTE: James Henry Bennett and his wife were one of nine couples recognized by the Cleveland County Genealogical Society as Pioneers of Cleveland County, O.T. last October. Genealogical documents and files provided for each couple by their direct descendants are stored in the Pioneer Registry files of the Cleveland County Genealogical Society Library, and will be available for future researchers.

This narrative is a transcription of one of many interviews conducted in the 1930s and preserved in the Oklahoma Historical Society Library in Oklahoma City as Pioneer Papers.

I came to Oklahoma in the fall of 1890 from Danville, Yell County Arkansas, in a wagon drawn by oxen. My father, his family, and my wife and I made the trip together. We landed at the foot of Havel hill about seven miles east of Norman in Cleveland County, on what is now highway number 9, commonly known as Denver Highway. We rented a farm from Cradle Runyan then we went down south of Pauls Valley and picked cotton until it got so cold we could not stay longer. We came back to our rented place and began making preparations for our next year's crop.

My wife and I had thirty-five acres. We traded off our oxen and later bought a good horse. We made a fine crop of corn and cotton. This place had a one-room log house on it.

When the Pottawatomie country opened we (my father, three brothers and myself) made the run on foot and as we thought, staked us a claim, but it so happened that we all got on Indian land, so we were left out.

Later on in the year, however, I bought Henry Saloon's right on 160 acres on Rowlett Creek. He had starved out and wanted a pony I had to get away on, so he offered me his right for the pony. It was a fine bottom land farm. His only improvements were a dugout and about an acre of cleared land.

I put up a large log room, dug a good well, cleared and broke out about fifty acres that fall (year of 1891). The following year we raised over four hundred bushels of fine corn, fifteen bales of cotton, and pumpkins, galore, to say nothing of our fine garden. We dried pumpkins and corn and that year we payed out only twenty-nine dollars for groceries. We had thirty-five pounds of meat and we seasoned with butter, as we had two fine cows. We also had plenty of cool sweet milk and corn bread and from our early and late gardens we had plenty of greens, etc.

Flour sold for from seventy-five to ninety cents a sack. The neighbors would cut a load of wood one day and take it to town the next, then they would sell it, get a sack of flour, and come home. We bought all of our supplies at Norman.

We lived on this place forty-one years and had accumulated quite a lot of stock, etc., so after the Armistice was signed I had a public sale and disposed of all we had. I bought property in Norman and took a job as jailor and under-sheriff under Ben Wheelis who later was replaced by Will Newblock. This work was too hard on me and after seventeen months I had to resign.

I then traded my Norman property to my nephew, Jim Bennett, for an interest in the Denver Store. My brother and I operated this for twelve months, then I sold out to him and moved back to some property I had in Norman. Soon after this I traded the Norman property for a fruit farm at Noble and two years later I traded the farm and moved back to Norman. I put in a wagon yard and ran a feed store for fourteen months; then I bought out my son-in-law at Big Jim and ran the store there for fourteen years. Three years ago I sold out and quit for good.

While I was on the farm I hired some Shawnee Indians to pick cotton for me. They were good workers but they wanted their pay every night and if they couldn't figure it up themselves they would get some of the educated Indians in the crowd to figure it and they would know to a penny what was due them. They went barefooted when it was cold but every hot or warm day they would wear their shoes.

While in the store business these Indians traded with me, as my store was in the Pottawatomie country. They used the "helpy selfy style" in being waited on. They would go around and get everything they intended to buy and bring it around and say: "Check me up, Johnny." Then at pay day they would pay up. Their biggest item was candy. Every time they bought anything, candy was on the list. They drew money from the agency toward the last of every month. Very few were poor pay.

They have a dance ground there near Big Jim and have four dances a year. They believe in a hereafter and these dances play a part in connection with their religion.

The bread and squirrel dance comes about the middle of May. The men go out and hunt for three days prior to the dance, then they come in, skin the squirrels, and stew them. The bread and squirrel is then spread on a sheet and their preacher gets up and preaches for an hour or two; then they eat and the dance follows. These dances usually last all night.

The Green Corn dance comes when the corn is in roasting ear stage. They always have an Indian ball game which lasts three hours or better with no intermissions. They have a ball similar to a golf ball only larger and they always play fair. There are goals similar to a football goal and they kick the ball over the goal. The women always play against the men. There are no fixed number of players. All play that want to play.

They have the war dance, when the men all paint up, have wild riding, and yell wild yells and war-whoops.

[Mr. Bennett says the name of the fourth dance has escaped his memory.]

When these Indians died they dig their grave about three feet deep, put the body in, and cover it with something, then put a layer of bark all over it and take poles three to five inches in diameter and notch them down solid to poles which have been put in each corner of the grave, covering the entire body over with these poles. Then they put in about eight to twelve inches of dirt which leaves about a foot space for all of their possessions to be put in on top of that. This is all covered overhead with a house made of poles and covered with a kind of bat or clapboard affair.

One time when a young woman died, for some reason she was put up on a scaffold eight or ten feet high, made of poles, and was left there over night before being buried.

Finally all of my brothers bought homestead rights near where I was and in 1894 or 1895 the Bennett School house was built. It was named for my father and us boys. Bennett School is twelve miles from Norman—ten miles east and two miles south.

Big Jim was chief of the Shawnee for years and established this dance ground that is used yet by the Shawnees. His son, Little Jim, is the present Chief. Ella Little Jim Beaver is Big Jim's daughter and her husband is Dudley Beaver. They both live near Big Jim crossing on Denver Highway (known as highway 9) close to the present site of the community center being built there for the Indians.

Cleveland County Rural School Named to National Register of Historic Places

Union School District 19½ in Cleveland County was recently named to the National Register of Historic Places.

The National Register catalogs buildings, districts, sites and structures that "are significant to our past and worthy of preservation." Union school was named to the registry because of its role in education and African American heritage.

Union School, located at 149th Street and South Luther Road in Cleveland County, near Newalla, served black students living in the Stella and nearby districts in the northeast part of Cleveland County for a number of years.

Archival records in the CCGS Library indicate that Union was one of five all-black schools in Cleveland County in 1905. Others were Norris (#1½), Brown (#2½), West Point (#18½), and McIntosh (#55½).

School board members for Union school in 1905 were Wm. Lamberth, A. Ward, and A.W. Johnson. CCGS Archives hold limited Union school records from 1917 through 1955.

The Union district school building was constructed in 1936 and was used to provide "separate but equal" education to black students in the area until Oklahoma's schools were desegregated at the end of the 1954-55 school year.

Where to Donate Records to Make Them Available to Everyone

(This article was previously published, on February 1, 2015, by Dick Eastman in Eastman's Online Genealogy Newsletter.)

A newsletter reader sent an interesting question this week, asking where to donate newly-found documents that may be of interest to many other genealogists. Here is an excerpt from her message:

"I recently was going through records and old documents that my grandmother had saved and came across an original passenger list of one of my immigrant ancestors from Poland/Prussia in 1895. To the best of my searching, I have not found any other records from this ship and this document is nowhere else to be found. I have scanned mine in so that others may benefit from it. The problem is I don't know what to do with it, aside from attaching it to my ancestors' records. Where else can I deposit this information?"

I believe I can give some answers but suspect that other newsletter readers can contribute even more ideas. Here are my suggestions:

Most repositories gladly accept collections of original materials related to the library's interests. However, few or none of them will accept compiled genealogies that simply list one's own ancestry.

Founded in 1894, the FamilySearch Library in Salt Lake City began to acquire genealogical records and continues to do so today. The Library is now the repository for more than 2.4 million rolls of microfilm, 742,000 microfiche, 310,000 books and other materials such as journals, maps and electronic resources. The Library presently accepts the following materials:

- Autobiographies and biographies containing genealogical material
- Family histories with genealogical information
- Indexes to records
- Local histories (limited)
- Well organized collections of genealogical and research materials

The FamilySearch Library also accepts other items although there are some guidelines as to what can be accepted as well as a list of items that cannot be accepted. Details may be found in the FamilySearch document, Gifts, Donations, and Loans to FamilySearch, at

Library employees do ask you to contact the library prior to donating anything.

The Allen County Library in Fort Wayne, Indiana, has the largest genealogy collection of any publicly-funded library. The Library's Genealogy Center accepts donations; as stated on the Library's web page at

"We welcome your contributions of papers, books, and disks of data. In print or in digital formats, your work will not only benefit great numbers of researchers, it will also be preserved for generations to come on our shelves and webpages. Whether it's research articles, images of military veterans in your family history, completed books, indices to record groups large and small, or copies of the family record pages in your family Bible, all will find a good home in The Genealogy Center. Contributions can be mailed or sent electronically directly to The Genealogy Center."

The New England Historic Genealogical Society encourages members and friends to consider donating their genealogical materials. Donations of books and other published material (family histories, periodicals, etc.) relevant to genealogy or local history are greatly appreciated. Details may be found at <http://www.americanancestors.org/Support/Donate-Materials/>.

The Newberry Library is a large genealogy and local history library in Chicago and is always looking for books and historic documents that will extend, strengthen, and complement the library's collection. If you are considering such a donation, please contact a library curator or librarian first. Details may be found at <http://www.newberry.org/collecting-newberry>.

The Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) also accepts donations although I believe their focus is primarily on the society's Americana Collection containing manuscripts and imprints pertaining to the history of Colonial America, the Revolutionary War period and the Early National period. Details may be found at <http://www.dar.org/sites/default/files/members/darnet/forms/HG-1009.pdf>.

The Midwest Genealogy Center in Kansas City accepts donations of gently-used genealogy books and yearbooks. In addition, certain donated materials deemed to have unique or noteworthy content are considered on a case-by-case basis for special disposition. The Midwest Genealogy Center no longer accepts unpublished research materials.

CCGS News

Pioneers of Cleveland County, O.T.

CCGS is now accepting nominations to the Registry of Pioneers of Cleveland County, Oklahoma Territory.

Nominations of Pioneers submitted before August 15, 2015 will be recognized by CCGS at a special event in the fall.

To be eligible for recognition, pioneers must have resided in Cleveland County sometime between April 22, 1889 and November 15, 1907. They may or may not have been born or died in Cleveland County.

The only requirement for applicants seeking to honor a Pioneer is that they be a direct descendant of the Pioneer they are nominating to the Registry.

CCGS sponsors this Registry in an effort to honor Cleveland County's hardy pioneers and to create a permanent repository of biographical information regarding the pioneers, their families, and their lives.

All materials submitted to the Registry of Pioneers of Cleveland County, Oklahoma Territory will be included in the Pioneers Registry file in the Cleveland County Genealogical Society Library, available in perpetuity to family researchers.

Call for Volunteers

Do you enjoy public speaking? We need ambassadors for CCGS who will speak to community groups when requested. Call 701-2100 and inform us of your interest.

Are you willing to occasionally substitute for one of our regular library volunteers? Our current list of library substitutes is getting mighty small, making it sometimes difficult to have sufficient workers available to keep the library open. (CCGS policy requires a minimum of two persons staffing the library at all times.)

Thank You!

Thank you for recycling your printer cartridges through CCGS. The recycling Rewards we receive keep us stocked with necessary office supplies.

Student Writing Competition

For several years the CCGS Board of Directors has worked toward a goal of hosting a genealogical writing competition for students. We finally got it off the ground this spring.

Students in grades 9 through 12 attending any public or private school in Cleveland County (including home schools) were invited to enter this competition. Entries were accepted beginning February 1 and continuing through March 1, 2015.

Entries will be judged by the CCGS Family History Writers Group. The winning entry author will receive a $100 gift card from a local bookstore, and the winning entry will be published in both the Cleveland County Genealogical Society Newsletter and in the Norman Transcript.

The winner and his or her family will also be invited to walk with the CCGS entry in the '89er Parade.

Society Meetings

January

Storyteller Letty Watt wove a family tale, a story that entranced the listeners. Then came the punch line...and listeners realized they had been enticed into a magical web of truth and fantasy.

Stories abound in every family. The storyteller can choose to tell only the truth—nothing but the truth—or to embroider a little fantasy into the story. With some stories, like the one about the only redhead in the family, the storyteller may discover the truth, but may never tell that story.

February

Michael Marcotte wowed us with numbers as he discussed The Odds of Being Related. Our ancestors increase exponentially every time we go back another generation. The farther back you go, the more likely you are to find a pedigree that extends many generations back. You can read more about Marcotte's work and the odds of being related at <http://michaelmarcotte.com/>

'89er Day Parade

On Saturday April 18th at 10 AM, the City of Norman will host its annual 89ers Day Parade, with the theme: Norman: History in the Making.

The Cleveland County Genealogical Society will again have an entry: a classic car bearing signs with the name of the Society. People will be in the car waving, and others will walk alongside passing out pencils and bookmarks to promote the Genealogy Library.

Board Member Jeffrey Wilhite, a member of the parade planning committee said, "It should be a great event this year! The parade is being organized chronologically by decade, so the 1889 wagon train will go first, and then the 1900's entries, then the 1910's entries, then the 1920's, 1930's, etc., up to present, so the tractors won't all be clumped together. Rather, each participating group will be presented in their decade of origin. This will make the entire parade fun but also a learning experience, especially for the kids."

Make sure to bring your family out on April 18 to celebrate the history of Norman and to support the Cleveland County Genealogical Society!

For more information on the parade see: <http://norman89er.com/>

Inventory in Progress

Library volunteers are currently conducting inventory for the CCGS Library. The most recent inventory was done in 2010. We find many changes in our library furnishings and equipment.

Have You Paid Your CCGS Dues?

Your CCGS membership dues run from January 1 through December 31 each year.

As this newsletter went to press, only 31 of last year's 101 members have renewed their memberships for 2015.

Your membership provides direct support to the operations of the Cleveland County Genealogical Society Library.

Deaths

Lisbeth "Lisa" Ann Sheppard died November 23, 2014, in Norman. A long-time CCGS member, Lisa was a very active volunteer in the early years of our library. She produced the first version of the CCGS website. Lisa compiled and published the first CCGS cookbook, A Feast of Memories, in 2001. She and Ann Jacobs compiled Abstracts of the Early Deeds of Cleveland County, published by Willow Bend Books, in 2004.

Rumell Holsenbake LeCrone, of Purcell, died December 10, 2014.

Robert C. "Bob" Starzer died in Norman January 8, 2015. His wife, Pat Starzer, was a frequent volunteer in the CCGS Library a few years back.

Wynema Caswell died January 24, 2015, in Norman. Wynema has been a CCGS member since the earliest years of the Society.

Since You Asked....

Q. I heard a rumor that CCGS finally has a new microfilm scanner-printer. Can this be true?

A. For a number of years, we have sorely missed the convenience of being able to view microfilm and to produce printed copies. At last, we are proud to announce that our new scanner-printer has been installed and has been working well. One can make paper copies or download to a flash drive. Those who have tried it, love it.

We want to remind our readers of some of the gems in our microfilm collection which are again easily accessible for research.

Library Reorganization

With increased donations of valuable genealogical resources to the CCGS Genealogy Library in recent years, we have experienced a space crunch.

Not having the budget to seek larger quarters, we had to look at other ways to manage the problem. First, we found space in our Archives room to add shelving, and moved back-issue journals to that area. This cleared space in the Library for more books, easing the crowding for some time.

Eventually we had to look at the book collection. We found many history books and quite a few travel tomes donated by members in the library's early years, which are only tangentially related to genealogy or family history. So, in recent years, we have winnowed the collection to a singular focus on genealogy and family history.

The books removed from the CCGS library collection have been placed on a book cart and offered for sale to members and visitors at bargain prices. Come shop our Books for Sale!

In the meantime, our 25-year collection of genealogy journals, although seldom used, continued to mushroom. The CCGS Library Committee developed a policy for journal retention, requiring that we store journals no more than ten years, and store newsletters only two years.

Last fall, as we prepared to weed journals, we learned that our journal collection would be welcomed in the Research Library of the Oklahoma History Center. After we donated these materials to the History Center, we found that many of these journals have been sent for binding and will be offered to researchers there. We are happy to know that the journals CCGS has preserved over many years will now be available to a wider net of researchers at the Oklahoma History Center.

All in all, in the past four years, the CCGS Library has deaccessioned 128 journal titles and about 453 books. During that same time, we have added approximately 586 (mostly donated) books. Our library collection now includes 6,030 titles.

Skaggs, Clyde Rickard, M.F. Fischer, W.E. Haney, G.W. Giles, H.P. Alden, H. Greenman, W.S. Bowlan, R.W. Jarboe, W.C. Kemp, Walter R. Collins, J.J. Stevens, Thomas Curren, S.A. Ambrister, E.D. Ludtke, Wm. Ward, D.W. Lee, G.W. Watson, J.A. Farrell, A.J. Davis, J.L. Williams, J.H. Taylor, W.A. Brannon, Jess Carr and R.A. Cesar.

Death of Mrs. Jane Boydston

Mrs. Jane Boydston, wife of William Boydston, died Friday, February 26 at 5:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Wynne, in Pocasset, Oklahoma. Funeral Services were held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the Willow View cemetery, where interment was made. It was one of her wishes that she be buried in the old home cemetery. Mrs. Boydston had lived to a ripe old age—80 years, 7 months and 9 days—years full of goods deeds and acts. She was a pioneer in this community and loved by all.

A Good Example of Civic Improvement

A good example of civic improvement is the residence property of J.M. Tuggle where workmen have been busy, repairing and rearranging practically everything. Mr. Tuggle contemplates the erection of a new garage, up-to-date in every way. ... A new chicken yard has been built, a fine new yard fence built around the fronting of the property, construction of a new concrete cellar commenced and all-in-all the property is one of the neatest and best improved in Lexington. ... Mr. Tuggle evidently believes in the best and is showing it in the improvements he is making.

Corbett

Mr. and Mrs. Atchley entertained a number of the younger set at their home last Wednesday evening. The evening was spent playing games and with music until a late hour when they all departed wishing a return of the occasion in the near future.

Miss Blanche Nolan of Oklahoma City is visiting with her sister Mrs. Marvin Bowling.

County Commissioner S.A. Ward was in Norman the first of the week in regular attendance at the meeting of the county commissioners.

A very nice crowd was in attendance at the spelling Thursday evening.

Clyde Blackburn, James Thomas, Ben Ward and A.G. Higbee were among the visitors to the Valley Grove-Denton basket ball game Friday afternoon.

L.B. and W.A. Higbee were visitors in Wanette last Wednesday and Thursday where they went to be at the bedside of Mrs. La Reau who was suffering pretty seriously with hemorrhage of the heart, but is reported much better now. She is a sister of L.B. Higbee.

The Denton basket ball team visited the Valley Grove school Friday where they had an interesting game of basket ball. The afternoon was not the most favorable but both teams were eager to play and the game was hotly contested all the way through and when time keeper A.G. Higbee called time on the last half the score stood 4 to 2 in favor of Denton. Not such a bad game considering that the V.G. boys have had only about a week's practice compared with Denton's two years practice. They will probably play another game Friday on Denton's ground.

Miss Bettie Clay spent the week end with her parents, J.M. Clay and wife.

Miss Nettie Dermid spent Sunday night with Miss Minnie Bowling.

Rev. Dean was a pleasant caller at Ben Wheeler's and M.A. Ward's Sunday afternoon.

T.E. Rogers returned Friday from Norman where he has been attending court.

Stovall

Most everyone was surprised to see the big snow Monday and it changed the plans of several who intended to plant corn.

Elsie Holsenbake was a pleasant visitor at Mrs. Bob Henning Sunday evening.

J.L. Reeves of Lindsay has taken charge of the route formerly traveled by R.A. Center and was canvassing Stovall district Monday with the Rawleigh products.

The little child of Sid Stovall and wife had its foot burned badly Monday by creeping backwards into the fireplace.

Prof. L.F. Harris, Stovall's successful teacher was a pleasant guest at C.H. Sherman's Thursday night.

Mrs. Ernest Rushing, who spent most of the past week visiting her parents, Mr. Crader and wife of McClain county, returned home Monday.

Spring Hill

Grace Newville who has been very ill with the la grippe for the past week, is up now.

Rev. A.T. Barber of Box attended the state Sunday school convention at Oklahoma City this week.

Bobbie Waddle has purchased a new buggy.

Ota Williams, who is attending Lexington high school, visited her parents Saturday and Sunday.

In the spelling contest which was held last Friday between Spring Hill, Valley Grove, Stoval, Denton, Spring Hill came out winner. Marcie Sudderth, Saddle Daniels, Lucy Newville and Kate Garrette represented Springhill. Marcie Sudderth won and will go to Norman to be in the contest there.

Don't forget singing at Spring Hill next Sunday.

Hellsell

Miss Helen Olander was out of school three days last week on account of sickness.

Oma Duncan will represent Willow View in the spelling contest to be held in Norman April 19. She missed three words out of one hundred in the test last Friday.

The people are working the roads some in this district. The roads were almost impassable in places.

Mr. and Mrs. Clary gave Henry Conkling a birthday party Saturday night. They report a good time.

The Science Hill singing class will elect delegates Sunday night to represent them at the singing convention to be held at Twelve Corner Easter Sunday.

Mt. Zion Items

Another blizzard that will stop agricultural activity for a few days and give the Mt. Zion farmers the blues.

D.D. Tate visited T.W. Rose of Lexington.

Buckhead school matched a spelling contest with Red Springs Friday afternoon which resulted in a victory for Buckhead.

Bob and Claud Hopper were Rosedale visitors Saturday.

A Substantial Present

As a gift to his namesake, Tom Keller presented Master Emmett Keller Barnett a neat little bank book of the Security State Bank with a deposit of $10.00 to his credit—a very substantial gift and one that will no doubt be appreciated by the young gentleman in due course of time.

Leonard Blair, D.C. Townley, Louis Hamilton, Oscar Dragoo, J.L. Williams, L.L. Cox, farmers living west of Banner marketed twenty four bales of cotton in Lexington Wednesday getting 8.50 for it. J.E. Peters bought the entire lot and outbid all of the Purcell buyers. Purcell's top bid being $8.40. The farmers are loud in their praises of Lexington as a cotton market.

Sebe Williams and wife have returned from Arizona and are now located at Purcell.

Prof. J.C. Crossman and wife attended the McClain county teachers' meeting at Purcell Saturday.

Frank Jackson of route 3 is a renewal to the Leader

Ralph Vincent was here from Norman Saturday.

Della Brim came over Saturday from Chickasha where she is attending high school to visit with home folks.

At the regular meeting of the Woodmen Circle, Friday evening the following ladies were initiated: Mrs. R.M. Evans, Mrs. C.W. Moses, Mrs. J.G. Hardie and Mrs. Pickart. An oyster supper followed the initiation ceremonies and a general good time was enjoyed by those present.
