IMPORTANT NOTICE

Change of June Society Meeting Date, Time & Place

Last year, when the Board changed the day and time of the Society's monthly meetings, we did not notice the possibility of some dates falling on a Sunday holiday. We have already moved one meeting date this year; now we find Father's Day also falling on a third Sunday.

Therefore, we have rescheduled the June Society meeting to Tuesday, June 20, 2017 at 6:30 p.m. in the South Lobby of the Community Services Building, adjacent to the CCGS Library. (For more information about changes for next years' meetings, SEE pages 22-23.)

The June meeting is our annual business meeting. Officers for the 2017-18 society year will be elected and installed. The 2017-18 budget will be presented to the membership for consideration and approval. Please bring your favorite food for the refreshment table. Drinks are provided.

Five years ago, in 2012-2013, the CCGS Board of Directors adopted a 5-Year Strategic Plan. Goals were set in five categories: Policies and Procedures, Finance, Membership, Publicity, and Preservation. At the end of each year, the Board has evaluated accomplishments in each category and set new goals for the next year. We have now completed this long-range plan and are ready to begin a second five-year plan.

The Board desires input from Society members in setting specific goals for the next year. All members are invited to attend the meeting set for Tuesday, June 27, at 5:30 p.m. at the CCGS Library. If you wish, bring a sack lunch and drink. (Soft drinks are available in the lobby

Most of you are aware that our society income is generated almost entirely by the efforts of our membership. This comes through dues and donations, sale of publications and used books, copies for patrons, research by library staff and our yearly Bakeless Bake Sale, which is a summer fund-raising event. Mary is refining the mailing list, and in a few weeks you can expect to receive an invitation to participate.

Ziba Belden: Census Enumerator

BY MARY LEWIS

Ziba Belden was the enumerator assigned to Township 6N-1W, the portion of the 1890 first census of Cleveland County, Oklahoma Territory, which is currently being published serially in the Cleveland County Genealogical Society Newsletter.

A quick Google review of this man's life assures one that Belden was qualified for the job. In the years prior to his coming to Oklahoma, he became a lawyer, practiced law wherever he lived, was a postmaster, and even served six years as county clerk in Arkansas.

Ziba Belden was in 1890 a forty-year-old lawyer who had arrived in Cleveland County within a month after the Run into the Oklahoma Territory. Belden was born in Bloomfield, Green County Illinois, to Solomon D. Belden and Mary A. Bennett. He was the sixth child in a family of nine. In Ziba's early years the family moved to Pike County, Arkansas, where he grew up.

In young adulthood, Ziba studied the law and became a lawyer, as did two of his brothers. He was appointed Postmaster at Hot Springs December 13, 1870. He served terms as county clerk at Hot Springs in Garland County, Arkansas, in 1876-1878 and 1882-1886.

At Hot Springs, Ziba met Julia Thompson, a daughter of Fillmore Thompson, a local doctor. They married September 11, 1872. Ziba and Julia had four children while they lived in Garland County. Halley, born in 1875, died in 1879; Ernest was born January 6, 1877; Maud on March 10, 1879; and Zoe on September 17, 1881.

The Belden family later moved to Pine Bluff, Jefferson County, Arkansas. Here Ziba is said to have owned a saw mill, in addition to continuing his law practice. Another daughter, Julia, was born here, on August 9, 1886.

Apparently Ziba Belden was attracted by talk of the opening of land to settlers in the Oklahoma Territory. In the fall of 1888 he moved his family to San Antonio, Texas, to await the first land run into Oklahoma. Another son, Herbert Augustus, was born in San Antonio January 30, 1889.

The Belden family probably arrived in Norman sometime in May, 1889. Once they moved to Norman, Ziba and Julia Belden had found their permanent home, living here until their deaths. Their youngest child, Virgil Fillmore was born in Norman March 28, 1892.

The first year in the new territory was a do-it-yourself experiment. No government had been set up; there was only a rudimentary code of law; and a court system had not been established. This place would need lawyers, such as Ziba Belden.

In 1890 the federal government required a count of the influx of residents acquired during and following the Run. Ziba Belden signed up as an enumerator, counting, as of June 1, 1890, members of each family in the districts assigned to him. Belden's assignment was in the southern part of Cleveland County, including Townships 6N-1W, 7N-1W, 7N-2W, and the Town of Lexington, also in Township 6 North. This job was an advantage for Beldon, giving him the opportunity to meet and become acquainted with every family in this area of the county.

The 1890 federal census of Indian Territory, County 3 (which would become Cleveland County), indicates that the Beldons had lived in this county only twelve months on the date of the census. Pioneers who staked a claim in the land run on April 22, 1889 report thirteen months' residence in this first population count.

At any rate, it is quite likely that Ziba Beldon did not come to Oklahoma seeking land. He was seeking opportunity. For a seasoned lawyer arriving in a setting peopled with individuals seeking land and opportunity, and with no formal legal system in place, many would need the services he was qualified to provide. An online search of early-day Cleveland County newspapers indicates that, at least by the end of the first year in the new country, Ziba was finding work as a lawyer, representing litigants in court. In October, 1890, he ran a display ad in the Norman Transcript, proclaiming his services as a real estate, rentals, and collections agent. A November Professional Cards ad for Ziba Belden, U.S. Commissioner, 3rd Judicial District, stated "Claim holders can make final proof [of their claims to land] before him at Norman" in his office in Seawell's hall.

In December of 1891, Belden was among the donors to a fund created to supplement the insufficient bonds sold in the community to secure the state legislature's decision to locate the state university in Norman. Ziba and ten other men donated ten dollars each. Some people donated more, while others donated as little as one dollar. Norman's cash contribution to secure the University for this town was successfully raised and delivered to the legislature less than a week prior to the deadline.

Later, Belden turned to politics. In November 1892 he was listed on the Cleveland County Republican ticket as candidate for Probate Judge. The Democratic party fielded no candidate for this office; Belden's lone opponent was A.T. Ross, representing the People's Party. [This writer has not found the newspaper reporting the election results; it is likely that Belden's opponent won.]

A local news column in August 1894 reports "Ziba Belden held down the Probate Judge's office in good shape during Judge Wilkins' absence." A similar column in April 1895 noted that "Ziba Belden is now office clerk for Sheriff Newblock, and it is needless to say to all who know him, that he fills the position in an able manner."

A decade after the Run of 1889, the Norman Transcript ran an editorial comment within the Local News column: "No man is more deserving or more competent than Ziba Belden. He ought to have no opposition for police judge. Better withdraw, Uncle Joe, and make it unanimous." For the record, Uncle Joe did not withdraw. The popular vote was a tie, which was broken in a unique method on May 1, 1899.

Judge Ziba Beldon
He Wins Out Over Uncle Joe Wilkins
After All—Draws the Lucky Ballot

The tie vote between Ziba Beldon and S.J. Wilkins was decided by lot. A number of blank ballots were put into a hat and two ballots, one containing the name of Beldon and the other that of Wilkins was added to them. Councilman Mills then drew the ballots from the hat, one by one, the agreement being that the first name drawn was the winner. Mr. Mills, as it happened, drew all the blank ballots first, leaving only the two names in the hat. Amidst more or less breathless silence he then drew a ballot, which contained the name of Ziba Beldon, leaving the Wilkins ballot in the hat. Mr. Beldon was sworn in at once and assumed the onerous duties of his office.

Ziba Beldon won this election. It appears that this judgeship lasted only a year. The Norman Transcript reported on April 12, 1900, that Beldon was one of three men nominated to represent the Good Government ticket in the district judge race. Beldon tallied fewer votes than either of his opponents.

Beldon, however, was a longtime fixture at the courthouse. For many years he served as office deputy for Sheriff Frank Boggs and Boggs' predecessor, W.H. Newblock. Beldon finally retired about 1928.

Ziba's wife, Julie Thompson Beldon, died October 8, 1919 and is buried at St. Joseph Cemetery in Norman. Ziba Beldon lived another decade, dying January 1, 1929. He also is buried in St. Joseph Cemetery.

Ziba Beldon's survivors included three sons, Ernest, Herbert, and Philmore, and two daughters, Maud and Zoe.

In the Library

Contrary to expectations, our volunteers stay busy with work involved in preparing our library and archival materials for inclusion in the new Norman Central Library. The latest word is that the new structure will be completed and ready to be occupied sometime in late summer or early fall of 2019.

Kathryn Ramsay, genealogy librarian for Pioneer Library System, can often be found in our library, overseeing a constant migration of books from our genealogy collection to the Pioneer Library System service center, where they are cataloged and processed according to PLS standards. Once completed, these materials are returned to our shelves and are again available to researchers.

CCGS volunteers determine the fate of the books not selected for the PLS genealogy collection.

Some items are returned to our shelves, where we consider them reference material in our stand-alone library. These items will remain in the collection until it is moved into the new library.

Some books are placed on our Book Sale cart. Most of these books are priced 50 cents and $1, although some of the better books may be priced as high as $10.

Other books, less likely to sell in this venue, are sent to Friends of the Norman Library, to be offered to the public in their large seasonal sales.

Since You Asked ...

Q You are currently publishing the 1890 Territorial census of Township 6N-1W of Cleveland County. I know that my pioneer ancestors lived in this county at that time. Will I find them in this part of the 1890 census? Where exactly is 6N 1W in Cleveland County?

A First we must provide a historical perspective. The current eastern boundary of our county is located six miles east of the Indian Meridian, which is now known as 132nd Street in Cleveland County.

The Indian Meridian, primary survey point in Oklahoma, runs from the Red River on the southern border, north to the Kansas state line. In 1889, this Meridian was the eastern border of Cleveland County. The six-mile swath east of the Indian Meridian, running the full length of our county's border, was part of Indian Territory. Those who lived in this area were not included in the Oklahoma territorial census.

The portion of that six-mile strip running north and south between the South Canadian river and the Little River was reserved for the Pottawatomie tribe, with the section between Little River and the North Canadian River reserved for the Absentee Shawnee tribe. This area was opened to settlement in Oklahoma's second land run on September 22, 1891, and the eastern boundary of our county was changed soon thereafter. These former Indian lands have been part of Cleveland County ever since.

Addressing your question: Township 6N-1W is the southernmost portion of Cleveland County's 1890 boundaries. This township is bordered by Moffat Road on the north, the Indian Meridian (now 132nd Street) on the east, and the Canadian River on the south and west.

Rural school districts included in 6N-1W include Spring Hill (#56), Stovall (#58), and Denton (#59).

The town of Lexington, also located in 6N-1W, was enumerated separately. Printing of this portion of the 1890 O.T. census will begin in the March 2018 issue.

Annual Business Meeting

Please note that Cleveland County Genealogical Society meetings are moving back to Tuesday evenings, beginning with the 2017 Annual Meeting next month, on June 10.

The annual business meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday evening, June 20, 2017 at the CCGS Library, 1119 East Main, just inside the south entrance of the Community Services Building. You may park in Parking Lot #3, just steps away from the entrance.

We urge all members to attend and help make decisions for the future of the Society. (If you have not paid 2017 dues, we'll accept them that night.)

Major items on the agenda include reports from officers and committees, outlining the accomplishments of the past twelve months.

Our second Five-Year Strategic Plan will be presented and adopted by the membership, and a slate of officers will be elected and installed.

The June business meeting traditionally features a spread of snacks brought by members.

Strategic Plan II: 2017-2022

On Tuesday, June 27, 2017 at 5:30 p.m., a committee composed of current board members and newly elected board members, will meet to set specific goals for each of four major goals identified in our second Five-Year Strategic Plan.

We invite all CCGS members who are interested in shaping the future interests and activities of the Society to join this group.

This committee will be working within the broad goals outlined in the Second Five-Year Strategic Plan, which will be adopted at the 2017 Annual Meeting.

We want, and need, input from as many members as possible, as we move from our present mission of providing a genealogical research library for our community to a new mission to support the public library's genealogical research center.

Participants may bring a sack lunch if they wish. We plan to be finished before dark.

Society Meetings

March

Twins, a boy and a girl, separated shortly after birth. Each adopted by a sister of their deceased mother. Reunited once again and raised to adulthood together. Dim memories of Mexico. These are the ingredients of the mystery retired teacher and family genealogist Diane Thompson discovered in her family history and related to us at our April meeting..

Decades passed. The girl twin died, in her nineties. Family members clearing her home enlisted Diane to research the family artifacts found among this twin's belongings.

The story was revealed. The boy twin's family, living in Mexico, experienced a tragedy. While the father was absent, a robber appeared, terrorized, and killed the mother, while two frightened little boys hid silently under the bed. In the aftermath, the bereaved adoptive father sent the boy twin back to the aunt who had adopted his sister.

Diane's message to our group was, When you discover a story like this, share it!

She shared her story on the internet, and soon received messages from three branches of this family, each with their own version to share. The full story of the Mexican affair was soon unveiled to all. This led to a joyous family reunion of strangers, held in Norman the day before our CCGS meeting.

April

Debra Osborne Spindle, librarian at the Oklahoma History Center, spoke in April on the topic, Beginning DNA, Which Test?

The autosomal test tests both parents' lines. Testers can be either male or female. Two companies, Ancestry.com and 23andMe, provide only autosomal tests.

A third company, FamilySearchDNA, provides autosomal tests, but also offers two other tests that analyze other parts of your ancestry.

The FamilySearchDNA Y-test identifies only the father's direct male line, and testers must be male.

The FamilySearchDNA mitochondrial test analyzes deep ancestry for the mother's line; testers may be male or female.

Spindle concluded that DNA tests are useful, but are no substitute for traditional genealogical research.

Pioneers of Cleveland County, O.T.

Did your ancestors live in Cleveland County after the Run on April 22, 1889 and prior to statehood on September 16, 1907?

If so, they are eligible to be nominated to the Cleveland County Genealogical Society Registry of Pioneers of Cleveland County, Oklahoma Territory.

This Registry is a special file in the CCGS Library, consisting of materials submitted by direct descendants of each pioneer. The materials you submit in your application will be placed in the Pioneers file, and will be available in perpetuity to future researchers of that family.

To secure an application and instructions, call (405-701-2100), write (ccgs@csbi.org), or visit the CCGS Library (inside south entrance of Community Services Building at E. Main and 12th Avenue NE).

The CCGS Library holds many resources that will provide the proofs you are required to submit, beginning with indexes to many Cleveland County records, and including original Cleveland County courthouse records.

Library volunteers will help you access the records you need.

The deadline for Pioneers applications this year is Tuesday, August 15, 2017. Certificates honoring 2017 nominees will be presented at the CCGS meeting in October.

CCGS Meetings Move to Tuesday Next Year

Our experience the past year with Sunday meetings in the public library were mixed. We saw a big increase in the number of visitors to our meetings. Members, however, apparently voted with their feet, as their attendance at meetings was significantly down.

Therefore, the Board of Directors has changed 2017-2018 monthly CCGS program meetings back to Tuesday evenings, as in the past. The meeting time is changed to 6:30 p.m.

The Board also decided to omit Society meetings in the winter months of January and February. As in the past, we do not meet in July and August.

All meetings (except June and December) will be held in Room A/B at Norman Central Library. Meetings in June and December will be at the CCGS Library, near the south entrance of the Community Services Building.

Deaths

Alan T. Montgomery, Virginia native, 25-year CCGS member, former Board member, past president, and valued volunteer, died Monday, May 22, 2017, in Norman.

Tangible memories of Alan Montgomery will linger in the CCGS Library and Archives. Alan, a talented woodworker, built all the wood bookshelves used now in the CCGS Library. He also crafted the shelving holding the Cleveland County Tax Books in the CCGS Archives. The dedicated team of Alan Montgomery and long-time member volunteer, Ralph Wilson, created basic but sturdy shelving to store dozens of boxes of Cleveland County court records, enabling us to finally preserve all our archival Cleveland County materials under a single roof.

HISTORICAL HIGHLIGHT
45,000 Acre Ranch

Neil, Graham and Edward Johnson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Johnson, have gone to the big Johnson ranch in the Panhandle of Texas, where they will spend a couple of months. Neil will probably remain out there and be put in charge of the ranch and its many thousands of cattle. The other boys will return for school in September.

Mr. Johnson tells the Transcript that he and his brother, Ben, of Chickasha recently purchased the Johnson & Crow ranch of 20,000 acres in the Panhandle, adding it to their other holdings of some 25,000 acres, thus giving them approximately 45,000 acres. The Johnson and Crow ranch was owned by W. H. (Henry) Johnson of this city and J.M. Crow of Isom, Texas, and they made a "killing" when they sold it to E.B. and Ben—but the two latter are perfectly satisfied to get it even at a big advance.

Mr. E.B. Johnson sold 175 head of fat cattle from his McClain county ranch last week. They averaged about 1040 pounds each and he got on an average of 8.00 per cwt., so you can figure it yourself.

Book Sales

The CCGS Library is offering a small selection of (mostly) genealogy books at attractive prices, 50¢ to $1, with a few books priced slightly higher.

These are items removed from our collection, and are being offered first to our membership. If they do not sell in a reasonable time, they will be sent to Friends of the Norman Library and will appear in their large public book sales.

Come soon to check the selection. Come often to discover the most recent releases.

The only effect noticed on account of the war is the larger proportion of women. ...

Wheat Drops—$1.95

The Norman dealers are paying $1.95 for wheat today, and say they do not know how long they will be able to pay that much. It started out at $2.10, then dropped to $2.05, and then to $2.00. J.J. Nolan of the Ten Mile Flat sold 541 bushels yesterday to Norman Milling and Grain company at $2.05. His wheat averaged 14 bushels to the acre.

Local and Personal

From Monday's Daily

Mrs. Charlie Hocker and pretty little son are here from Purcell visiting her mother, Mrs. E.E. Bailey, and attending the wedding of her brother, Manley.

Poultry Market: F.B. Jones is paying 16½ cents for hens today, 20 cents for boilers, 10 cents for roosters and 20 cents for eggs. No quotations on turkeys, geese or ducks.

Second Arrest of Speeder: The officers took in several speeders yesterday, and the usual $5 fine was assessed against each of them. They arrested another one for second offense, and it is probable he will get $25 if proven guilty. The speeders may just as well make up their minds they are up against it.

Married: Norman friends of the young couple are receiving invitations to the wedding of Miss Ruth Brannon Newall, daughter of Judge and Mrs. W.M. Newell, and Dr. Francis Asbury DeMand, which will be solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, Uni. Boulevard at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, June 27th.

W.E. ("Babe") Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Smith of Moore, received orders yesterday to report at Fort Sill where he will be connected with the Quartermaster's department. He has a good billet, holding the rank of sergeant at a salary of $42 per month and everything found.

Harvest Hands: One of the boys writes the Transcript from Cherokee that the wheat harvest is "on" there in full blast with excellent yield. He says the Norman boys taking part in the harvest are: Geo.
