President's Message

BY JEAN MCCRACKEN

The first society meeting for 2018 is scheduled for 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 20, in Rooms A/B at the Norman Public Library Central, located at 225 North Webster. Brad Koplowitz, well known expert document restorer, will be speaker. Although Brad is retired, he currently works part time at the University of Oklahoma Library. He also works from his home to restore documents and books brought to him by individuals, churches and colleges.

The presentation will first focus on how to preserve documents and books. He will begin by documenting preventative measures which help insure long term preservation. He will demonstrate best practices to follow when handling and working with paper and photographic materials.

The second part of the lecture will outline various types of repairs for books and documents. He will use examples to illustrate such repairs as the encapsulation and mending of documents, and the reattachment of book covers and spines. Attendees are encouraged to bring items in need of repair; the speaker will discuss possible repairs and cost.

The April 17 CCGS Society meeting will feature representatives of several local lineage societies. Each will outline requirements for membership in their group and will offer assistance.

Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution, Pioneers of Cleveland County, O.T., Colonial Dames of America, Daughters of the Republic of Texas, and Daughters of 1812 are some of the societies who will provide speakers. These speakers are knowledgeable about genealogy and can help you!

Join us at 6:30 p.m. on April 16 in Room A/B at the Norman Central Library, 225 N. Webster Avenue, Norman, OK.

Are you keeping up with the progress of the construction of the new Norman Central Library? The project is moving about on schedule with completion expected in summer or fall of 2019. At that time the Cleveland County Genealogical Society's library holdings will be moved into the new library's genealogy department.

The Sooner Theater: Swinging on a Rope to Change a Marquee

BY BILL LEWIS

Greetings to all who toiled at the Sooner Theatre. I was an usher there about 1944 or 1945. The Sooner was the flagship of the Griffith chain, which included the University and the Varsity, as well as the Sooner, in downtown Norman.

“Performing Arts Center”??? Does anyone remember a stage event? The performer was called a Mentalist. I remember that after the show I asked the mentalist when my Dad would be coming home. My dad was with the Seabees on Tinian; he watched the B-29 Enola Gay take off bound for Hiroshima. But...Dad did return at the time the stage performer said he would. I will never forget greeting him at the east guard post at the south base.

Sailors on Saturday nights were the theater’s bread and butter, filling all seats from the first show through the preview. The ushers scarcely needed flashlights—the sea of white lit up the place!

There were many extra chores at the theater which ushers vied for. One such job was to change the letters on the marquee. In the ‘40s the Sooner had two marquees. We could use a ladder to change the letters on the street marquee, but the other one was accessed through a second story window inside the ladies’ lounge.

First, we had to get the letters from the letter closet, just outside the ladies’ room. Sometimes an assistant manager, “Tiny,” the only man in the theater chain who could pick up two one-hundred pound bags of popcorn from the shed out back, would have the letters ready to go.

With the foot-high stack of letters firmly grasped under one arm, the lucky usher was ready to do the Tarzan act. He entered the ladies’ lounge, stood in the opened window, grasped the rope that was provided, and swung across to the marquee. He then walked the plank, set down the stack of letters, and removed the old letters before installing the new ones. Once finished, he picked up the stack of old letters, grabbed the rope and swung back to the open window. As this missive proves, I always caught it when it was my turn to change the marquee. I sometimes wondered if the crowd of sailors below would try to catch me if I slipped!

From time to time the letters wore out, and someone had to saw out more. Across the street from the Sooner, over the Varsity, was a huge storage area where this work was done. I can't remember the name of the student who could saw with either hand, but I marveled at his skill.

Gordon Morain was the theater's maintenance person. One Saturday, I helped him change the excelsior mats that kept the cooling going. I remember that he went out of his way to teach me a lot about electrical wiring.

Very few people know that a generator set in a building across the alley north powered the theater in earlier days. It was not being used when I worked there in the mid-'40s.

My employment with the theater system brought about my opportunity to be a witness in a court procedure. The state of Oklahoma was suing Griffith Theaters, claiming that I was working for them underage. Their lawyer thought he might get some mileage for one question. He asked, "Now Mr. Lewis, what did you do with the pay you received on your job?"

Without thinking, I said, "I guess it just went the way of all money." That brought down the house.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

As the December issue of the CCGS Newsletter was being published and distributed, your editor was knee-deep in preparations for moving from the house where she has lived for 33 years.

It is amazing how much "stuff" two people can accumulate over the years. Now one of the two (Me!) gets to experience the joys of downsizing.

One of my recent downsizing discoveries was a special section of the Norman Transcript, published Saturday, January 30, 1999, in celebration of the 70th anniversary of the Sooner Theater.

Andy Rieger opened this special section with a concise history of the $200,000 Spanish Gothic style Sooner Theater built by architect Harold Gimeno, which opened in February, 1929. Rieger notes its special features, including "252 designs hand-painted by the architect's father, mosaic tile and veiled marble, a ladies' lounge, cry room, party room, and air conditioning." He named long-time workers, as well as the fact that local youth, both high school and college age, were frequently hired to staff the theater.

Changing times and multi-plex theaters led to the closing of the Sooner in 1975. It was vacant for several years. Then a group of citizens convinced the city to purchase the building and lease it to them for $1 per year. The theater received a renovation in 1982; since that time the Sooner has offered many dance programs, local plays, musical concerts, and beauty pageants.

As the Sooner's 70th anniversary approached, the Norman Transcript asked readers to share their memories of the Sooner. Over forty responses were received, and were published in a special section of the Norman Transcript on Saturday, January 30, 1999.

It was this section that your editor discovered as she downsized for a move, almost twenty years later.

The memories run the gamut—the Sooner is a special place in Norman, a social gathering place, the place to go on a date. Others recalled the Saturday morning children's movies, with free tickets provided to all by Goodno Jewelers, or waiting on the street in the often long lines to the box office. Many of the memories came from people who worked at the theater during their high school and/or college years. One who shared memories was my husband, who wrote the selection we share with CCGS readers.

Visitors to the CCGS Library, 1119 East Main Street in Norman, just inside the South Entrance of the Community Services Building, can access this Sooner Theater souvenir section in the Locality group of the CCGS Vertical Files. Ask one of our library volunteers for help.

Have you ever considered joining a lineage society but weren't quite sure how to go about it? The Cleveland County Genealogical Society's April 17, 2018 meeting offers speakers from several lineage societies who can help you learn how to join these groups.

Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution, Pioneers of Cleveland County, O.T., Colonial Dames of America, Daughters of the Republic of Texas, and Daughters of 1812 are included, and the list is growing. Please plan to attend and learn more.

Pioneers of Cleveland County, O.T.

Did one of your ancestor families set up housekeeping in Cleveland County, Oklahoma Territory, between April 22, 1889 and November 6, 1907?

If so, you can nominate them to the CCGS Registry of Pioneers of Cleveland County, Oklahoma Territory, thus making an important contribution to the recorded history of Cleveland County

This Registry represents a CCGS project that encourages descendants of the pioneer residents to provide first-hand information to our library about both the pioneer generation and the succeeding generations of their families who arrived in Cleveland County in the pioneer days. These charts, facts, stories, photographs and more are placed in the Pioneers files, which will be accessible in perpetuity to family researchers.

The application for 2018 nominations is due Thursday, August 16, 2018. Interested individuals can call, e-mail, or write to the CCGS Library to request an application packet. Find contact information on page 2 of this newsletter.

Library volunteers can help you find needed information in the CCGS Library and Archives.

CCGS Library Closed Saturdays

Due to a shortage of library volunteers, the CCGS Board of Directors has found it necessary to close the Genealogical Society Library on Saturday afternoons.

The Genealogy Library continues to be open two afternoons weekly, 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

We definitely need more help.

Our library is open four hours each day, totaling eight hours weekly. We need at least two volunteers each afternoon, enabling one volunteer to perform tasks in the Archives Room when necessary, while leaving the other to host visitors in the library

Currently exactly three members are providing a total of 20 hours library service per week. This is not sustainable.

WE NEED MORE HELP!

Library volunteering is really a fun job. You meet the most interesting people. Everyone has their own story, their own quest. And you get to brainstorm with them (or provide the Cleveland County indexes) to assist them in finding their genealogy treasures.

When visitors don't come, you may answer the phone or help with current projects in the library. Or—most fun of all—you can explore the shelves or archives for your own family history. Who knows what you may find?

Library Volunteer Options

Can you volunteer one afternoon a month? Select the first Tuesday, the third Thursday, or whatever fits into your schedule.

Can you volunteer two hours a month? Again, select a specific Tuesday or Thursday, as well as the hours you prefer (1-3 p.m. or 3-5 p.m.)

We also welcome those who wish to volunteer more than two hours a day or one day a month.

To volunteer, call the CCGS Library (701-2100), email us (ccgs@csbi.org), or visit the CCGS Library.

Recycle Your Ink Cartridges

Members who contribute their used ink cartridges to CCGS help us to afford needed office supplies. We recycle through the Office Depot recycling program.

CCGS 5-Year Strategic Plan II (2017-2022)

The CCGS Board of Directors evaluated mid-year progress of the first year of the second CCGS Five-Year Strategic Plan at their February meeting.

Members focused on the ongoing work to integrate the CCGS Library collection into the genealogy collection of the Norman Central Library, upon completion of the new library in progress at the corner of Acres Street and the railroad. Our work must be completed prior to the move and requires much detail work. We need volunteers.

Our mid-year accomplishments include completion of two important indexes. Probate files, housed in the Archives, are fully indexed, from 1890 through 1972. The 1890 census of County Three (which became Cleveland County) has been completed and is now being serialized in the CCGS Newsletter. (CCGS offers a microfilm version, which is easier to read than most of the online offerings.) Jean is just over 50% finished with indexing the Divorce files, 1890-1972.

CCGS offered two workshops in the fall of 2017, a beginning genealogy workshop and a writing workshop.

One major library project remains that must be completed this year. Jean McCracken and Mary Lewis have been assigned to design an action plan for the remaining civil court files in our possession. These are early files, when divorce cases were handled in civil court. We will pull Divorce files, to be filed with all other Divorce cases. Volunteers will be needed for this project.

A Bakeless Bake Sale Fundraiser is planned in July. Volunteers, to address envelopes, will be recruited in May or June.

CCGS continues a dialogue with PLS regarding the integration of our collection into the new library.

We also continue an exploratory relationship with the Cleveland County Historical Society to determine if a merger might be advantageous to both groups.

Genealogy Workshops Planned at Norman Central Library

Pioneer Library System genealogy librarian Kathryn Ramsay has scheduled several genealogy workshops this spring.

Welcome to the Neighborhood: The F-A-N Principle will be presented Wednesday, March 14, 2018. Learn about using the F-A-N method of genealogy research—Friends, Acquaintances, and Neighbors—to help you learn more about your elusive ancestors.

DNA Tests Decoded is the topic on Wednesday, April 18, 2018. Learn what DNA tests are good for.

Each workshop is scheduled from 2-4 p.m. on the day indicated, in the Norman Central Library's Computer Training Center.

Space is limited, so registration is required in advance.

Family History Writers Group

The CCGS Family History Writers Group meets at 10 a.m. on the second Wednesday every month in the CCGS Library. The stated purpose is for group members to write regularly about any aspect of their family or family history. Stories are read aloud at each meeting and each piece is celebrated.

In the Library

The Norman Central Library building project broke ground in June 2017. Norman residents who travel Acres Street north of Andrews Park in central Norman have since watched progress of the library project.

CCGS members have a vested interest in this project. Our long-time goal has been to provide a genealogical library collection to the public. With the completion of the new library, our CCGS Genealogical Library collection will move to a space in the new Norman Central Library which is fully dedicated to the study of local and family history.

For over a year, CCGS library volunteers have observed PLS genealogy librarian Kathryn Ramsay move books in our collection to PLS to be cataloged, processed to Pioneer standards, and returned to CCGS shelves. Then the process begins again, with a new set of books being sent to PLS. The entire CCGS genealogy collection will be ready to move to the new library when it opens in 2019.

Back at the new library worksite, workers prepared the building site and completed the utility work. We watched as steel began going up. Still more progress was marked on February 7, when workers, city officials, and library leaders participated in a traditional topping out ceremony, when the final steel beam was placed in this multi-story project.

With the skeleton of the project in place, the building soon will be closed in. Work will continue inside, creating spaces to house library programs, including meeting rooms, space for children's programs, computer training lab and classroom, a Friends of Norman Library bookstore, reading nooks, study spaces, hearing loops for the hearing impaired, and more.

The Local and Family History area will be located at the southwest corner of the third floor of the new library. We now can begin to visualize the architect's design, featuring a large picture window overlooking Andrews Park. From the Local/Family History room, visitors will have a magnificent birds-eye view of most of Norman's Original Town Site. Superb!

Since You Asked ...

Q: One branch of my family came to Cleveland County early and lived there for many years. What kind of information will I be likely to find in your genealogy library?

A: Researchers like you can expect to find a wealth of information about their family members.

The CCGS Library holds indexes to many Cleveland County public records, as well as housing the original records in our Archives. However, a good place for you to begin is the Surname Files.

Our vertical files include special Surname Files which focus on families who have lived in Cleveland County.

When our Research Committee receives queries for information about local families, they prepare two copies of their findings. One copy goes to the person requesting help; the second is filed in the Surname File and is available to all researchers.

A variety of information may be found in such Surname files—census records, cemetery or funeral home records; land records, probate, civil court or divorce records. Occasionally newspaper clippings, photographs or other items may be included.

Another source of information for the Surname files is the local newspaper. Our library volunteers watch for stories of interest to historians—obituaries for prominent or long-time citizens, human interest stories about individuals, stories featuring CCGS members, etc. These are clipped and filed in the Surname File for future researchers' use.

Mae Cox, a CCGS member, wrote a family history page in the Lexington Leader for several years. Mae has contributed the files of her research on these southern Cleveland County families to the CCGS Surname File. These files include supporting information as well as the articles she wrote about each family.

Don't fail to check the Surname Files when you come to research your Cleveland County families.

Cleveland County Heads the Nation

A Pie supper was held at Pleasant Valley on Tuesday night. War Savings Stamps were given to the purchasers of the pies as usual. There were about twenty different accounts opened, making a very successful meeting. Miss Milam, the teacher, had prepared a very interesting patriotic program ... W.R. Clark appealed to the patriotism of the people in his usual forceful manner. Baby Bonds aggregating $250 were sold. The Washington Directory puts Cleveland County leading among all rural districts in the United States.

Meetings are arranged for the remainder of the week as follows:

Valley Grove, Thursday night; Blackburn and Fairview, Friday night; Oak Grove, Saturday night.

Mr. Clark was glad to learn that Cleveland county leads in the state as to the number of war savers in the rural districts.

Call of March 29th: The Transcript learns that Cleveland county's quota of the March 29th call of the selective draft will be only six men. The quota of the state is 598. The local board has not yet selected the men who will go.

Blood Poisoned

Councilman A.W. Toberman has been quite sick for the past few days with a very sore arm which threatened to be serious, but he is better today and there is every indication he will recover without any bad effects. He was moving a stable last Thursday, and in the course of the work received a deep scratch on his hand from a piece of splinter. He thought little of it but it rapidly grew worse, and he was finally compelled to take to his bed, blood poisoning having set in. ... It looked for a time as if the poison would get to his body, but it was confined to the arm and is now much better.

Local and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ince are in receipt of a telegram from their son, Carl, stating that he has arrived in Philadelphia from one of his trips to France. He has made several trips on the U.S.S. Henderson, on which he is a wireless operator.

Mr. E.B. Kimberlin has greatly improved the look of his store by painting and papering, giving it a complete renovation. He has been artistic, too, in the choice of paint and paper and his store room and the way he displays his choice stock of goods makes his place very attractive.

Russia, being for war on Saturday signed peace on Sunday, and Monday said the treaty was a mere scrap of paper. If Russia were a woman, we should probably hear tomorrow that she had quit flirting with Germany altogether and had run off and married a Jap.

Just as a reminder of the Red Cross County Fair Benefit at the high school building tonight (Thursday) to begin at 7:30. General admission is 5 cents; programs, 5 cents; all refreshments 3 cents; side shows 3 cents. Don't fail to see this great fair and the exhibitions of the wonders of science. Pennies are the legal tender of the occasion. All the receipts go to the local Red Cross chapter and the high school expects to raise some $80 or more. Thursday, 7:30, high school building.

Miss Nona Hobbs has accepted a position as teacher of English in the Hitchcock high school.

Died: At the hospital for the deaf at Sulphur, Oklahoma, February 16th, Elmer, the 14-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Dickerson. The body was brought to Norman, to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Messrs. Clyde Pickard and Chas. Griesmer engineered a deal on Thursday by which C.P. Landt sold his fine 160-acre alfalfa farm four miles west of Norman to J.A. Parks of Detroit, Texas, the consideration being $16,000. It is regarded as one of the best farms in that locality, a very large portion of it being in alfalfa. Mr. Parks buys it as a home.

W.H.P. Trudgeon returned on last night from a trip to Fort Clarke and San Antonio, Texas,, where he visited his son, Stockton and the McClain county boys at Travis. Mr. Trudgeon stated that Stockton's battery, eleven hundred strong, were ready to depart for France. —Purcell Register. An outline of the proposed new school house for the west side, to take the place of the building recently destroyed by fire is on exhibition in the window of the Fred Reed drug store. It is to be built on the unit plan, similar to the eastside building, and presents an edifice that will be convenient and satisfactory.

Notes About Cleveland County Boys

(BY EDWARD SHAW ANTHONY—PASSED BY CENSOR)

The Cleveland county boys at Camp Travis who left Norman on Monday, February 26th, arrived at the camp Tuesday afternoon. Just before entraining at Norman, they were presented with comfort kits by the ladies of the Red Cross chapter.

A pleasant surprise awaited us at Ardmore. The Red Cross in that city served everyone with a box lunch, hot coffee and cigarettts. There was more than enough to go around and we were given several large boxes of sandwiches and pie to eat along the way. Everywhere along the line we were given the glad hand. There never was a bunch more full of pep nor one more likely to cause the kaiser to worry when we cross the pond.

If anyone of the Cleveland county boys was expecting beans and hardtack three times a day, they have found out that army grub is anything but that. We have plenty of well-cooked food, with lots of variety and good appetites too. None of the boys have been heard complaining of the treatment in any way and all say that they have found things much better than they had expected.

If anyone wants to write any of the Cleveland county men who left on the 26th, they should address the letters as follows: 44th Co., 11 Bn., 165 Depot Brigade, Camp Travis, Texas. All mail addressed this way will be sure to reach the men promptly. All the following Cleveland county boys belong to this company:

Edward S. Anthony, James P. Bowen,
Loranza G. Clary, Martin Cavenee, E.L. Fraker,
Will L. Graves, Claud T. Holman, E.J. Head,
Mose Hewitt, Wm. T. Hackley, R.H. Hughes,

Liberty Items

(By Anon)

The school is progressing nicely after a weeks vacation on account of measles. Mr. Jones is at the helm.

J.H. Ray and S.E. Van Deren have purchased an orchard sprayer and will soon commence spraying their trees.

Uncle Davy Hendrix, who is farming with Mr. Ray, has been hauling his kafir corn for the stock.

The farmers around Hog Creek are busy plowing and preparing their ground for early planting. Nothing but a bumper corn crop will satisfy them.

Mr. E.J. Bradley is still confined to his bed after quite a siege of sickness. His advanced age makes his recovery slow.

The pie social at Liberty was poorly attended last Friday night as many of the patrons understood it had been postponed on account of measles and did not attend. ... Too much patriotism in Liberty to keep the people away from an occasion gotten up for a patriotic purpose. Try it again and Uncle Sam's Sammies will be there with their best girls.

We notice that Dr. R.H. Manogue, the Norman veterinarian, has returned from his two months' absence, and can now be consulted by phoning 428, Norman.

Capshaw Items

Mr. Guy Hagood seems to be feeling pretty gay since his brother left now he says he can call at the Van Deventer home oftener that he used to.

Red Cross Notes

Mrs. Lewis of Noble returned some knitted garments Friday and took out more yarn.

The supervisor of the surgical dressings reports for the week ending March 8, 2430 8x4 compresses, 546 yards of gauze and 85 packages 8 by 4 inspected and wrapped.
